

Working With Women Who

Working with women who are survivors of sexual violence

Maaike Moller

Maaike is a Forensic Physician at the Victorian Institute of Forensic Medicine where she is also the Clinical Lead for Family Violence. Maaike has worked extensively in women's health and is a Member of the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists (UK). She has a strong interest in population health and the health of vulnerable women in particular and has a Masters in Public Health (London), a Diploma in Tropical Medicine & Hygiene (Liverpool) and a Diploma in the Medical Care of Catastrophes (Society of Apothecaries). Maaike has an interest in Ethics in Medicine and has a BSc(Hons) in Bioethics (Bristol) and is co-author of a book entitled The Practical Guide to Medical Ethics & Law (2ed, 2005 Pastest).